

Safety Message for IMEA Members

Job Briefings Save Lives

Always conduct a thorough job briefing before starting work. Identify hazards, confirm roles, review switching orders, and ensure everyone understands the plan. Conditions can change quickly in the field, so encourage open communication and stop the job if something doesn't look right.

Minimum of one briefing per shift - Compliance is nothing more than checking a box!