

Multitasking and Rushing

Trying to do too many things at once or rushing to finish a task can create dangerous distractions. Linemen should follow the work plan, take one step at a time, and verify safety procedures before moving forward. Slowing down and staying focused helps prevent mistakes that could lead to serious incidents.