

Safety Message of the Day for IMEA Members

Know What Can Feed You

Today's distribution system may have more than one source of energy. Customer generators, distributed generation, solar installations, battery systems, transformers, and interconnected circuits can create unexpected backfeed conditions. Before starting work, ask one important question:

“What are all the possible ways this equipment could become energized?”

Identify and control every source before putting yourself in the danger zone.